intelligent technical recruitment solutions

defence engineering

Atlans's Defence Engineering Division has a wide range of skills in High Technology Engineering on a Permanent or Contract basis. By calling on a wealth of inhouse experience we ensure we fully understand our clients' needs enabling us to direct our efforts into meeting those needs in a timely manner.

Utilising extensive databases of CVs driven by a sophisticated search engine, we can confirm whether or not we have candidates with the required skills and, within hours, their availability and interest in the positions on offer.

Atlans supplies both permanent and contract staff to major engineering companies within the Aerospace, Real-Time Electronics and Defence environments in various specialist areas, particularly Safety, Reliability and Integrated Logistics Support. We are able to offer both on-site consultancy which is charged at hourly rates and fixed price packages where work can be adequately scoped.
